■ Non-introduction

Under the pseudonym AbsurdePhoton is hiding an autodidact, almost experienced amateur photographer.

- By "almost", I mean there's always something new to learn in photography
- By "almost", I want you to understand that I try to stay humble, many photographers talk about themselves at the 3rd person on their internet site
- By "almost", I am conscious that perfection does not exist, not for me, not for you --- but we can try to reach it!
- "Autodidact" because I came to photography from drawing and computing. By trial and errors I am trying to succeed, or at least be far better than in the beginning

■ Try it, if you dare !

My penchant in photography has always been  female portrait

I also love  artistic nudes, this is after all a more naked form of female portrait!

I know how to do many other things, it is said that a picture is worth a thousand words:

- First,  visit the photo galleries for an overview
- Trying to combine all my artistic sides, I am able to produce  virtual paintings
- The use of photomanipulation tools allows to unleash your imagination with  Photomontages
- To show you I can shoot something else than female portraits, you can find photos of  Nature: animals, plants, "macro" photos and astronomy (in other words, the very small and the infinitely large)

■ An air of mystery

The man really is Robert Cornelius, an American pioneer of the discovery of photography. This photo is the first intentional photographic portrait of a human, shot in 1839.

As for me, I like to be mysterious, particularly concerning my real identity and how I look. Only one photo of me exists on the entire internet, and I uploaded it myself. Of course I can't tell you where...

Pose for me, so you can find out who I really am !
