The word glamour comes, a little distorted, from scottish.
In photography, the meaning is more hollywoodian:

An attractive or exciting quality that makes certain people or things seem appealing

- The Color Purple (Lying) ©AbsurdePhoton -
A nice place to relax

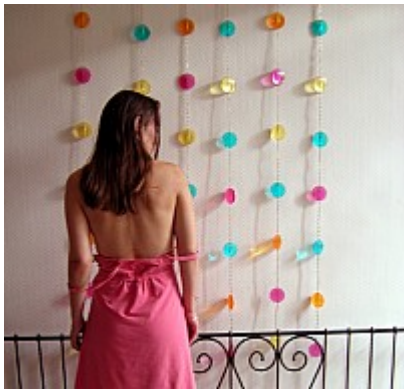

- Lightbath (black and white) ©AbsurdePhoton -
The sun had entered to carress her face & her shoulder

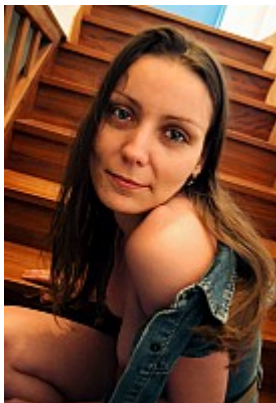

- Poo-poo-pee-doo @AbsurdePhoton -
Beware Betty Boop, you got competition!

- Munchable @AbsurdePhoton -
It's like a delicious looking fruit, I would like just a bite

- Wired rainbow @AbsurdePhoton -
The sun was playing with the little colored plastic rounds

- Golden and Blue @AbsurdePhoton -
A bit of delicacy in this world of brutes

- The color purple (Upright) ©AbsurdePhoton -
Gotta find a new position

- Bohemian Rhapsody ©AbsurdePhoton -
As she was dancing, the strap suddenly fell

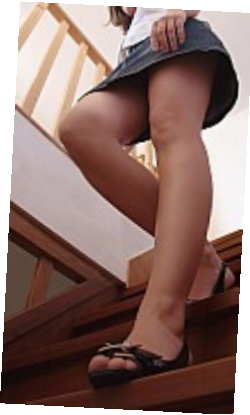

- Caraco (Inspiration) ©AbsurdePhoton -
Inspiring

- Inclined thought ©AbsurdePhoton -
You stare first at her yes, then...

- Double pinup ©AbsurdePhoton -
Is this the ghost of Marilyn?

- In-descent ©AbsurdePhoton -
How far these beautiful legs could go?

- Glamour by the window (black and white) ©AbsurdePhoton -
On a bed in her dressing gown, wrapped in brightness

- Fabric (arms crossed) ©AbsurdePhoton -

Arms crossed

- Mysterious mirror ©AbsurdePhoton -
Mirror, mirror, who is the fairest?

- Mari-Anne-Lyn ©AbsurdePhoton -
Poo-poo-pee-doo, Anne-Marilyn or Marilyn-Anne?

- Dichotomy (Sexy) ©AbsurdePhoton -
Strangely sexy in spite of her harsh look

- Mona Lisa ©AbsurdePhoton -

Is this how Leonardo da Vinci was inspired?
